He expressed his delightness to Dr. Aparajita Baruah (external Expert) who accepted to be a part of the Board of studies –I, to finalize and streamline various aspects connected to the BA.LLB (H) and LLM 1 year courses under the Royal School of Law & Administration.

1.2 The chairperson briefly summarized the objectives of the meeting :

- i) That, the course structure of BA.LLB(H) for the batch 2018 onwards be finalized complying the set norms of both Bar Council of India and CBCS system under the UGC grants Commission.
- ii) That, the course structure of BA. LLB(H) for the existing batch of 2017, be enhanced and standardized on the lines of CBCS system.
- iii) That, the experts inputs to be incorporated in the detailed syllabus provided.

1.3 Discussions/Deliberations:

1.3.1 COURSE STRUCTURE (new)

- i. After extensive discussions on the choices to be provided as MAJOR (B.A) subject, it was concluded that, SOCIOLOGY should be made compulsory for all. The rationalization between this interdisciplinary approach shall have reaching contributions to the society. Also communicative English under the CBCS, is already spread out over the six semester term period.
- ii. After cautious contemplation upon the choices to be provided in regards to the major subjects, it was a unanimous conclusion, that – English, Psychology, Economics shall be provided.
- iii. After a thoughtful insight upon the credit per subject, it was concluded, keeping in mind the vulnerability of the just passed HS level students that-
 - a) Major : 04 credits
 - b) Minor: 03 Credits
 - c) Law subjects: 05 credits
- iv. Thus it was categorically clear that -1st semester = 22 Credits
2nd Semester- 22 Credits.
With no changes in the sequence of the proposed law papers.
- v. That the proposed sequences law papers were : 3rd Semester: Constitutional Law-I , IPC, Family Law- I.
4th Semester: Constitutional Law –II, CrPC, Family Law -2
5th Semester: Labour Law-I, Law of Evidence, CPC.
6th Semester: Labour Law- II, Administrative Law, Company Law.
After considering the arduous level of the substantive law subjects, it was suggested that the sequence would be in the following manner:
3rd Semester: Constitutional Law- I , Labour Law I, Family Law-1.
4th Semester: Constitutional Law- II , Labour Law II, Family Law- II
5th Semester: CPC, Company Law, Administrative Law
6th Semester: IPC, Law of Evidence, Cr.PC.
- vi. That to compare with the BCI Rules in regard to distribution of BA Course/ subjects and law papers / subjects as mentioned under Schedule-I of Rules for legal education 2008, during the term of the 4th semester the following B.A Subjects shall be introduced which shall continue uptill 6th semester.
 - History-I (03 credits) (4th)
 - Political Science-I (03 credits) (4th)
 - History –II (03 credits) (5th)
 - Political Science-II (03 credits) (6th).
- vii. Thus, it was categorically clear that –
3rd Semester- 30 credits

- 4th Semester- 28 credits
- viii. That, it was proposed to the board- introduction of the Honors Category (Elective- Constitutional Group and Criminology Group) at the Fifth Semester, to which the Board unanimously consented.
- ix. That, it was categorically clear that-
5th Semester =28 credits
6th Semester= 28 credits
- x. That, according to Schedule-I of Rules for Legal Education 2008, the distribution of subjects are mentioned as-
7th Semester [01 (first degree) + 04 (law subjects)]
However, after intense meticulous scrutiny it was found that, the rules is ambiguous in regard to justification of a first degree paper (BA) at the 7th Semester.

Also, on further comprehensive inspection of the leading contemporary University, it was validly found that, the continuation of first degree papers at a much higher semester is a futile and irrelevant exercise.

- xi. That, as a choice to be provided under optional paper- "Tribal laws" should be ministered.
- xii. That, in the detailed syllabus of the subject "Trade Law", GST should be introduced in a unit.
- xiii. That, the optional papers ministered should be in such a pattern and sequence, which should not lap over the subject under elective Hons. Group.
- 1.3.2 That, the batch of 2017, commenced with a full scale gravid implementation of CBCS, totaling to 32 credits for both 1st and 2nd Semester, following changes were placed on board for deliberation.
- a) Since, 04 major papers have already been administered in the 1st & 2nd Semester, the balance (02) papers are proposed to be taught in the 3rd & 4th Semester (01 each semester), leading to completion of sum total of 06 papers in major group.
- b) To, comply with the distribution of B.A papers and Law papers at the 5th & 6th Semester, a additional subject "Legal Language" -I & II are to be introduced.

ii) After, intricate contemplation and keeping in mind the final embodiment of the legal acumen required by a student legal science, it was concluded that-

- (a) The balance of 02 papers of the major group shall be on 01 per semester for the next academic year i.e 2018-201 (04 credits).
- (b) The sequence of the law papers shall be the same as point no.[C v].
